Terms

- A deviation is any variation from a group's full itinerary. This would be a difference in the group's return date, return city, the group's itinerary routing or a change that makes your ticket an open jaw (itinerary ends in a different city than the group).
- Unless otherwise noted, passengers may deviate on their return flight only, if your group's air contract allows deviations.
- Requests are handled on a first-come, first-served basis if space is limited.
- Communication, billing and processing are handled on an individual basis between the passenger(s) and our air consolidator.
- When you are quoted an itinerary and airfare supplement, it is based on seats and fares available on that day, at that time if it was to be booked. Until you accept the deviation, there is a chance that the seats will become unavailable or the fare will increase. Space and fares cannot be held or guaranteed until accepted.
- Authorizations to book a deviation not received within two weeks of receipt of availability and fare supplements will forfeit the deviation. The sooner you authorize the deviation, the better chance you have of availability and lower supplemental fares.
- After accepting a deviation, you must send air payment to our air consolidator immediately upon receipt of the available flights and fare supplements you have accepted.
- With the confirmation of your deviation through email, your ticket becomes non-refundable and your seat with the group flight will be released. Should you find that you need to return with the group, the space and fare may no longer be available. Name changes are not allowed and any changes on your itinerary will incur a fee determined by the new flight schedule and availability at the time of change.
- Taxes and fuel surcharges may still increase after you have accepted a deviation. You will be notified if the taxes or fuel surcharge have increased once the group tickets are printed (approximately 60 days prior to departure) and must pay the increase immediately. Failure to pay an increase will result in forfeiting the ticket.
- Tickets will be sent out with the group tickets to your group contact a couple weeks prior to departure, and no sooner.
- Requests must be submitted, completed and paid in full prior to group ticketing, approximately 90 days prior to departure. If a group leader decides to ticket before 90 days prior to departure, deviations must be submitted, completed and paid in full prior to ticketing.

I (we) have read and agree to the Air Deviations Terms.
