

South Landing Development

Stucki Farms, a master planned community, is just under 600 acres located in Washington City. This unique community is planned to have approximately 140 acres of open space that will include parks, 24 acres of lakes, 3.25 miles of walking paths and recreational facilities! Each of our villages are different and designed to offer something for everyone. From a quaint cottage to a spacious custom home, you can find your new home at Stucki Farms! We recently broke ground on the 7-acre amenity area that features our Farmhouse Welcome Center, Barn Event Center and resort style pool! Come visit us and see why Stucki Farms is "A Great Place to Come Home to"!
